Observations...

By the Editor

We are reproducing on our editorial page in this issue an article by Lester L. Hawkes, which appeared in Publisher's Auxiliary of October 22nd, on the makeup of a weekly newspaper, its obligations to its readers, and the service it may be to the community it serves. . . . we think this article covers the subject of the weekly . . . it takes news to create readers interest and it takes advertising to keep a newspaper in existence . . . readers interest is shown in your subscription list, which is what our advertisers are interested in . . . we point with pride to a substantial list of over 1800 paid subscribers . . . a list which has trebled in number during the past 7 years . . . in the issue of October 10th, the Saturday Evening Post carried an article on Marchie Schwartz, Bay St. Louis boy, who is coach at Stanford University . . . in reading this article we were much surprised to find that credit was not given to the man who is more responsible for Marchie's success than any other human being . . . Forster Commerage . . . the manner in which Marchie handles the boys is a duplicate of Forster's coaching . . . this was instilled in Marchie as a youngster at St. Stanislaus by the coach of all coaches . . . whose greatest ambition was to be a good high school coach . . . on two occasions this past week we were told by business men that we were in a position to make comments on various subjects since we owned the newspaper and because of the freedom of the press . . . our answer was, "You are free to write on any subject you wish and we promise you that it will be published, even if the letter takes the hide off the editor . . . we are not infallible and our thoughts are those of one man" . . . certainly someone should differ with us, and if and when, we will be more than pleased to give all the space necessary for their answers . . . perhaps we need more discussion on matters of importance to our city and county . . . we are much interested in forestry and conservation and during the past week our good friend Roland Weston handed us a copy of "The Unit" published by the Southern Pulpwood Conservation Association, Atlanta, Georgia, and called our attention to an article entitled "short lesson in conservation," which follows: "Back in 1940 the Farmer-Stockman a farm journal, offered a prize of $25.00 for the best 100 word description of a printed picture showing a deserted farmhouse and a gullied field. E. O. Enfield, of Arapahoe, Oklahoma, took first prize. His short description said more in a few words than many conservationists can manage to put across with page after page of learned language. He wrote: 'Picture show white man crazy. Cut down trees. Make big tepee. Plow hill. Water wash. Wind blow soil. Grass gone. Door gone. Window gone. Whole place gone to hell. Buck gone. Squaw, too. Papoose gone. No Chuckaway. No Pig. No corn. No cow. No Hay. No pony. Indian plow no land. Keep grass. Buffalo eat grass. Indian eat buffalo. Hide make tepee. Make moccasin. Indian make no terrace. No build dam. No give damn. All time eat. No hunt job. No hitch hike. No ask relief. No shoot pig. Great Spirit make grass. Indian no waste anything. Indian no work. White man heap loco.'"

Chancellor Postpones Slot Cases To Await Supreme Court Decisions

S. J. A. - S. S. C. Sodalities Present "Living Rosary"

Chancery court convened on Monday morning, October 24th, with the Honorable D. M. Russell, Chancellor of the Eighth Chancery Court District, presiding. In addition to Judge Russell the following officers were in attendance: Deano Jordan, Official Court Reporter, A. C. Mitchell, Clerk of Courts and B. D. Johnson, Sheriff.

One of the largest dockets in the history of the County greeted Judge Russell. Following the sounding of the docket, the court proceeded to hear a demurser filed in the suit of the State Auditor versus the former members of the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County. Judge Russell took this matter under advisement to render a decision on November 3rd.

On Tuesday the court signed an order in the 30 cases on the docket filed by Leo W. Seal, President of the Hancock Bank, who is represented by Stokes V. Robertson of Jackson, asking for an injunction to stay the operations of slot machines in the places of business of the various defendants. In its decree the court stated: "It appearing to the court that the defendants in said cause filed demurser in each of said causes to the bill of complaint, that counsel for the complainant in said cause is also counsel for the appellee in four cases on appeal to the supreme court of the State of Mississippi, and said counsel has filed in said court a motion to advance the hearing of said four cases appealed and it further appearing to the court that the pleadings on behalf of the appellant and the appellee in said four cases present substantially the same question as are presented in these causes, and that the said causes should be continued pending a decision on said causes on appeal to the supreme court of the State of Mississippi."

The court was engaged the greater portion of Tuesday and Wednesday in the hearing of divorce cases, during which time twenty-two decrees of divorce were granted.

In the hearing of demurser filed by counsel representing the Town of Waveland in the matter of the suit of C. O. Dufour, Marshal and Tax Collector versus the Town, being a suit to set aside an order by the council reducing the salary of the Marshal and Tax Collector, the court overruled the demurser on Thursday morning. Mr. Dufour is represented by the firm of Gex and Gex.

Bay Rotary Club Hears Talk By Airline Official Wednesday

"Though the Airline industry is very young it has made greater strides in its short time than any other industry in existence," said L. H. Tudor in speaking before the Bay St. Louis Rotary Club on Wednesday.

Mr. Tudor, sales manager for American Airlines, said that the airline industry is expanding and moving steadily upward. Today, though traveling in general is lessening, the airlines are getting more business than other means of transportation.

"If any one event marked the beginning of American Airline industry it was the flight from Boston to New York by a tri-motor Fokker transport plane in 1927. This was the first night flight with passengers" the speaker said.

Transcontinental service began October 15, 1930 and some 12,000 passengers were carried that year. The latest addition for overseas service is the nonstop flight from New York to London in 12 hours.

Mr. Tudor said that the airline industry is offering each year better accommodations for traveling and today four airline industries are tops in the transportation field.

Mr. Tudor was introduced by Dr. James A. Evans and was met with much appreciation for his interesting and informative talk.

A. Butzon of St. Louis, Mo., was a visiting Rotarian. Another visitor was Ed Maune, Gulfport, who was a guest of Rotarian J. R. Shadoin.

RECTOR INSTALLED AT ST. AUGUSTINE'S

The Very Rev. Lawrence Walsh, S. V. D., has been appointed rector of St. Augustine Seminary here. Installation took place on Tuesday, Oct. 25, followed by a dinner for the new rector.

Father Walsh succeeds the Very Rev. Joseph Busch, S. V. D., who held the office for the last six years.

Father Busch has been appointed rector of St. Francis Mission Seminary, Island Creek, Mass., for the next three years.

The newly appointed rector of St. Augustine Seminary was born in 1906 at Momente, Ill. In 1921 he entered St. Mary's Mission Seminary, Techum, Ill. He made his final vows in 1933, and was ordained to the priesthood in 1935.

After ordination he taught at St. Francis Xavier Mission Seminary, Island Creek, Mass., and at St. Michael's Mission Seminary, Cassius, N. Y. He was made Novice Master of the Brothers at St. Mary's Mission Seminary, after a few years of teaching. In 1943 he was appointed as rector of St. Paul's Mission Seminary, Epworth, Iowa, a post which he held for six years. During the past few months he has been teaching at Holy Ghost Mission Seminary, East Troy, Wisconsin.

Father Walsh will be the sixth rector in the existence of St. Augustine Seminary. "We are indeed very glad to welcome the Knights of Columbus among us who will truly assist our congregation," Canon Sorin said in his sermon. "In fact," he continued, "they are the flower of Catholicity especially to extend their liberality and influence. Their object is through the Spirit of Christ, to try to reform the social order and the revival of Christian Spirit which goes hand in hand."

The choir of the DeLisle church sang throughout the Mass; a solo was rendered by Ray Marchetich who was accompanied by Miss Clarice Dedeaux at the organ.

Father Sorin, a native of France, was assistant at the church of Our Lady of the Gulf for 7 years; in 1886 he was placed in charge of the DeLisle mission, when Father Mortier was transferred from DeLisle to Ocean Springs.

Under the guidance of the young priest, the members of the congregation got to work and built the first mission in 1897 which was destroyed by fire eight years later. It was reconstructed the same year.

Canon Sorin, in his 53 years as pastor of Our Lady of Good Hope, has extended the service of missions to the Catholics of West Harrison county. He has seen two churches at DeLisle, two at Sherie Dedeaux, and one each at Saucier, Vicksburg, Cuevas, Lizon, Dubuissou and Dedeaux go up.

Homecoming Day Set For Sunday

St. Stanislaus is all set for its big Homecoming celebration Sunday, Oct. 30. A full day's activities have been planned for alumni, students, and friends of the college.

At 10 a. m. the alumni will meet at the school and at 11 a. m. Solemn High Mass will be held on the grounds.

Since there will be no barbecue this year, lunch boxes have been provided for those who expect to eat lunch at the college. These can be purchased on the grounds after the Mass.

At 2:30 p. m. the St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws will take on the Mard, Alexandria football team. A hard fought, never-say-die game is expected.

An elaborate half-time ceremony, directed by Brother Canisius, will have as its theme "Memories of Past Days." Scotty Aspeneimer will give a short welcoming speech to the alumni, the band will play "School Days" and other songs, while the students go into various formations. Following the game the Junior class will sponsor a dance starting at 8 p. m. in the gym.

K. C's Honor Father Sorin On His Eightieth Birthday

Thirty-five members of the Pere Le Due Council of the Knights of Columbus attended Mass and received Holy Communion in a body Sunday, Oct. 23, at the church of Our Lady of Good Hope in DeLisle.

In honor of Very Rev. R. J. Sorin, who celebrated his 80th birthday Tuesday, Members of his congregation were also in attendance.

"We are indeed very glad to welcome the Knights of Columbus among us who will truly assist our congregation," Canon Sorin said in his sermon. "In fact," he continued, "they are the flower of Catholicity especially to extend their liberality and influence. Their object is through the Spirit of Christ, to try to reform the social order and the revival of Christian Spirit which goes hand in hand."

Examples Of Improved Forestry Practices; This Will Mean Increased Incomes

Realize Large Profits From Your Waste Land

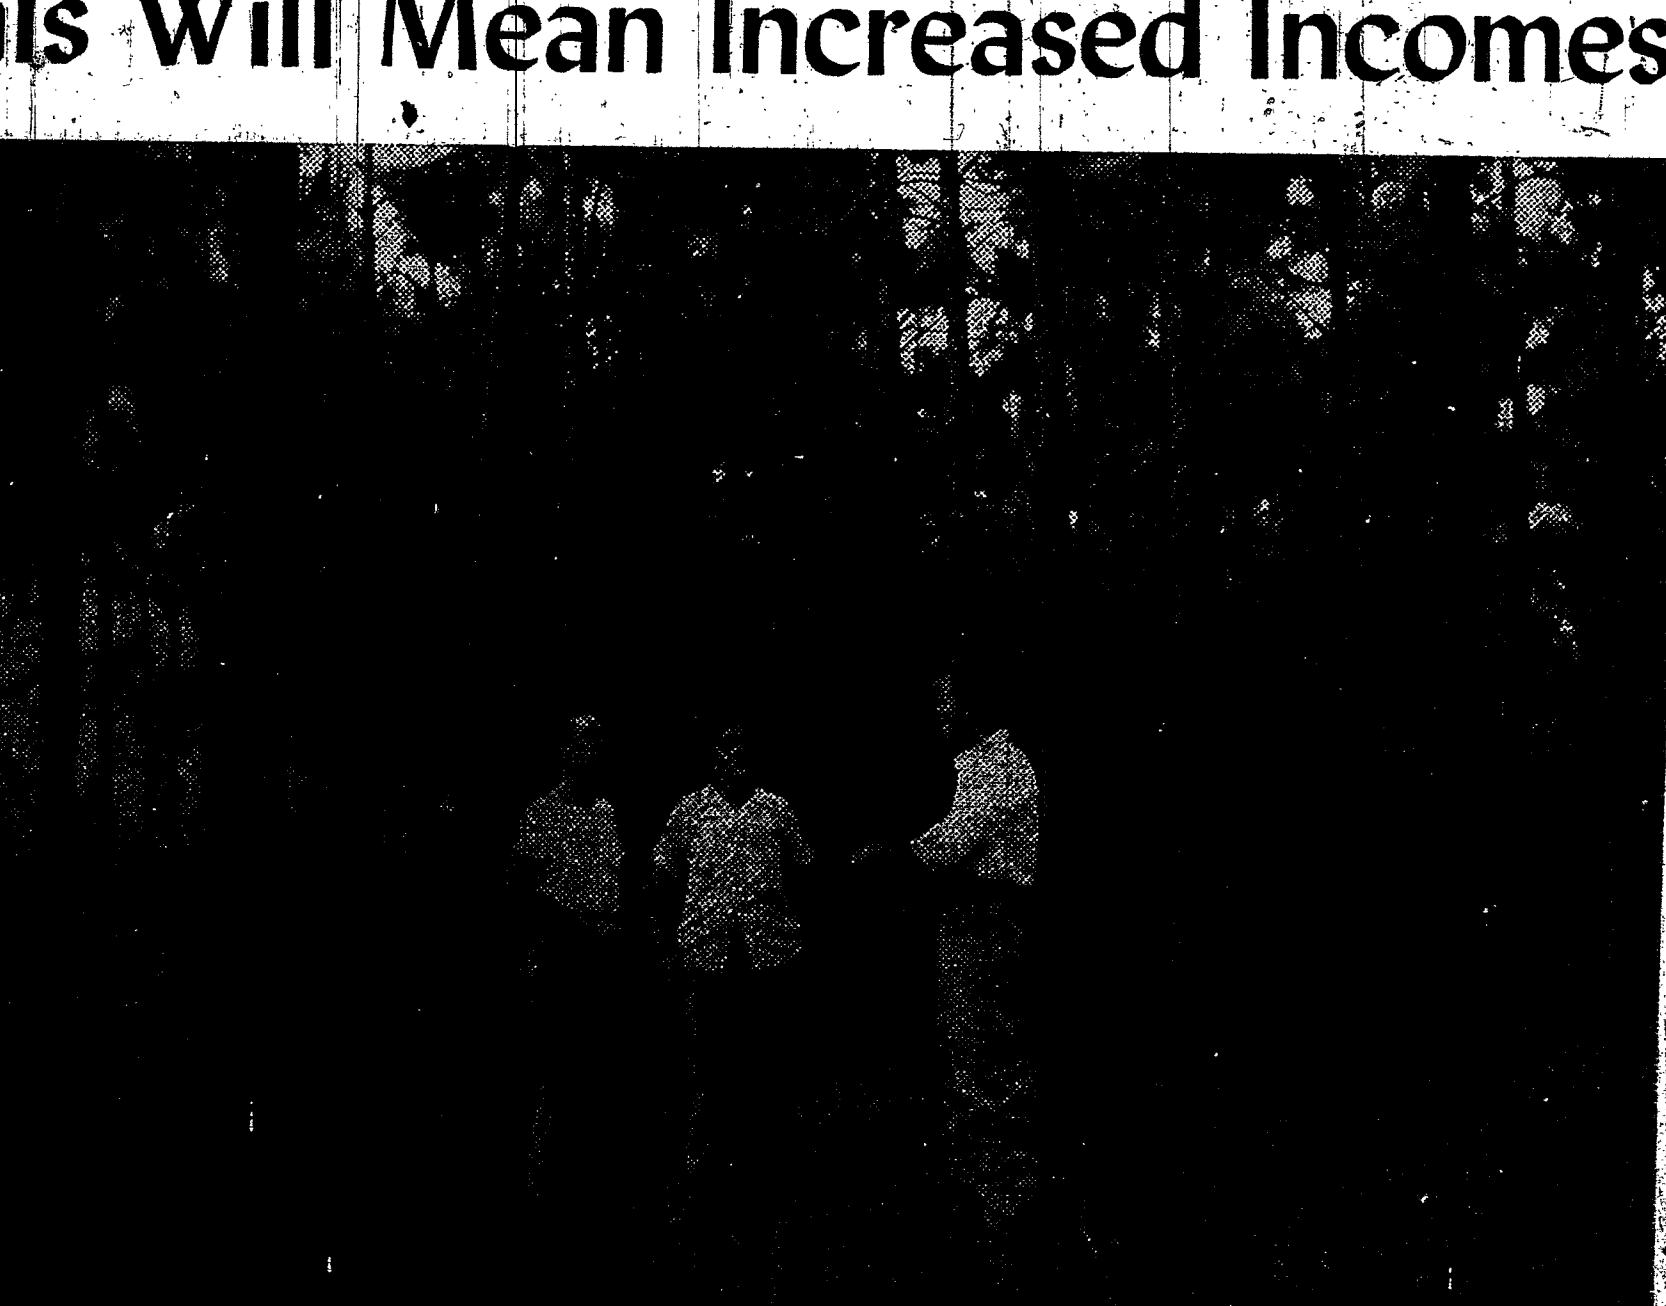

The pictures shown here demonstrate quite well what can be done with land which otherwise might lie idle, producing nothing for the owner.

With reforested acreage the farmer can let a crop of trees grow through the years and give him a good harvest of timber logs without putting forth too much time and effort.

Ernest Lee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gaston A. Lee, of Lestown community, has come this. He expects to use the money paid to him for the saw timber from 10 acres of reforested land to help get him through college. His timber was planted approximately nine years ago and is growing into a fine stand, as can be seen from the picture.

Johnson Shaws reforested land is a demonstration of the benefits of reforestation and subsequently hard cash to be derived from intelligent use of land. The contrast between the reforested area and that which has been replanted is truly amazing.

More and more farmers are coming to realize that they can realize good profits by applying the latest forestry methods on marginal land. It is a good idea to have a good forester and a good lumberman to help you with the details.

Gaston A. Lee shows the Echo reporter, Ernest Brackett, and Howard Simmons, County Agent, the timber that is going to finance his college education. The project started by L. G. Lee in March, 1941, was taken over by Ernest following his brother's death.

GET A NEW SLANT

A small group of men and women meet every other Friday to talk and discuss, in a lively manner, an amazing diversity of topics. They talk glibly of subjects ranging from the works of Socrates and Plato to the writings of William Shakespeare and Karl Marx.

These people are not learned scholars, steeped in wisdom and weighted down with degrees. They are ordinary working men, business men, tradesmen, white collar wearers, stenographers, housewives, bakers, firemen, and what have you. They are taking part in the organization which is spreading over the entire country. The name of this organization is the Great Books Foundation.

What is the purpose of these discussion groups? Its main purpose is to make people think and express ideas about man and his culture. The average man probably never gets around to reading most of the books that this group discusses. A newcomer soon finds, to his amazement and great satisfaction, that he is able to talk about Aristotle's philosophy, for instance, with the authority of a college professor. The answer is a simple one. Every member, previous to the meeting, has read up on Aristotle and is therefore primed for the round table confab which follows.

Why must people read books in order to exchange ideas about what goes on in the world? The books they read, these Great Books which are recognized as being the most timely as well as universal works on man and his world, act as the stimulus for discussions. These Great Books give the answers to many of the questions which have plagued the human race down through the years. There are those who will laugh at people who must get their ideas out of books, some of which are over a thousand years old. To these we say, give the Great Books Foundation a chance. Go to some of the meetings; take part in the discussions and you too will find, as have so many others, an entire new field opened up for you.—Ernest W. Drackett, Jr.

Lester L. Hawkes

(Reprinted from The Publishers' Auxiliary)

If you were to assemble 100 newspaper publishers and ask for their theories, likes, and dislikes of a newspaper page, you would probably receive 100 different replies. Newspaper makeup is like that. What appears attractive to you may be unattractive and prohibitive to another. Individual taste is responsible for the intrigue and interest in newspaper makeup.

The weekly paper is an institution in the smaller community. In fact, it is more than an institution. It is the driving force by which the smaller villages and cities become larger villages and cities; by which are built new roads, schools, and churches. It is the driving force by which the citizens combine their efforts toward progress, and by which future generations build their hopes for an ideal community in which to make their homes. It is as much a molder of opinion in its respective community as the daily is in his own city.

The weekly newspaper is obligated to its readers to keep them informed of all the news and to fight vigorously through its editorial columns for community progress. It is also obligated to keep itself abreast of modern newspaper practices by presenting its readers a newspaper that will reflect this progress.

The reader seldom thinks of makeup. He probably has no conception as to the meaning of makeup, but accepts his paper every week and judges it unconsciously on its pleasing and attractive appearance. If the paper pleases him without attracting too much attention then the editor and his staff have done a good job.

The weekly newspaper should be like an open book which invites its readers to enter and browse through its pages. The front page should be like a well displayed show window that offers important items to its customers. This can be accomplished by offering to its readers important community stories, attractively displayed; for the reader unconsciously judges editorial and news columns by the orderliness of page makeup.

The editor cannot afford to publish this paper in a community that has not progressed over the past years. He must strive continually for a better community through his editorial and news columns. Yet we find many progressive editorials and news stories printed in type used by his paper for many years and the general makeup of such a paper generally follows the same pattern as the type selection. The editorials and news stories strive for community progress while the typography of the paper reflects stagnation. Business needs modern advertising for modern merchandise displayed in modern stores. Business also needs a modern newspaper in which to place this advertising. A few dollars spent on modern types and a small amount of study on how to use them will help produce a much more attractive and acceptable page.

The greatest foe of good newspaper makeup is complacency and carelessness. Editors should strive continually for something different. All of these will make better satisfied readers and advertisers.

A good rule of thumb is that if your paper satisfies you, typographically, then it will probably satisfy your readers.

To the Editor:

Civic spirit is a contagious thing. It is born of many emotions. Somebody engages in the grocery business and it looks like he is making money and before you know it there are many grocery stores in that community. The strange thing about it is they all do business and white things like this can be over done it usually develops there is several times as much grocery business being done in that community as there was previously.

Make it possible, for a half dozen concessions to operate on a beach front in Bay St. Louis and within a year you will have a hundred willing to invest all kinds of money in the undertaking with the hope of profits.

The last thing I want to do is have anyone think that I think Bay St. Louis is not a good town. It is an excellent town and there is much progress here, and much building and the town is growing, but I believe it would be a better business town if we could interest about fifty thousand New Orleans families in making Bay St. Louis their vacation and recreation headquarters.

There is hardly a family in this area who would not benefit. Certainly all of us who have to work for a living would benefit immensely. A considerable number of our people hold back because they are afraid such a project will cost an awful lot of money. If it was all built at one time it would. But that is not necessary.

Once a beach with proper approaching piers is made available you may depend upon it the concessionaire will rent space and invest his own money. Ultimately those who put up the original money will get it all back with interest. It is easily possible that before the development had reached the point where it adequately took care of the trade, several million dollars would be invested here.

Can you think of a community where increase tax values are needed any worse than here in the Bay. The City Government could spend a half million dollars, if they had it, for street repairs, water line extension, better fire protection, additional school facilities and a hundred of other things that every growing community needs. But that half million dollars is not available because the city is in debt and they do not have excess revenue with which to do the things that are being begged for by the citizens.

Given a major development and the wages spent here for working men will stimulate business. The new values will greatly add to the tax income and before we know it the city will be in position to make the needed improvements without any additional burden on people who are already rather heavily taxed. Ultimately the tax load could be eased making the Bay still further inviting for the outsider to cast his lot here.

We said these things are contagious. They are. If a score of men can band themselves together to get the idea started, I know that hundreds of others will join in. Everyone will want to have a hand in something that promises good for the community. There are people in the Bay who have spent a lifetime wishing they could do something to help this community in a substantial way. They can, and without one dollar's loss to themselves. We need a leader and we need a comparatively small amount of money and we will create a recreational facility in Bay St. Louis that will far exceed anything on the Gulf Coast at this time.

People keep bringing me their ideas. I wish you would write them out, sign your name take them to the publisher of the Echo. He is most liberal with his space or you would be reading this. If you have an idea, let the people have it.

Yours for progress in the Bay.

Had RHEUMATISM So BAD That He Had To Quit Working?

Mr. Jerry Watkins, chief of detectives of the city of Hot Springs, Arkansas, suffered with rheumatism so much, and the aches and pains were so terrible that he had to quit working in an effort to regain his health after he had tried everything which his friends recommended.

Mr. Watkins is one of the many thousands of people who suffered from a deficiency of the B vitamins and the minerals that HADACOL contains and who, therefore, found relief in HADACOL.

It is a well-known scientific fact that the lack of only a small amount of the B vitamins and certain minerals in your system will cause certain bodily disorders such as nutritional neuritis, which causes the aches and pains commonly known as rheumatism, and there is no known cure for the ailment except the administration of the needed vitamins and minerals. This is why people who suffered for years and years never were able to obtain any relief until they took the vitamins and minerals the lack of which was causing the disorders.

HADACOL does not contain only one but has five of the B vitamins and four necessary minerals. It comes to you in liquid form so that it will be easily absorbed by the blood and, therefore, carried to the parts of the body which need them most.

So, it matters not where you live—no matter who you are—if you have tried all the medicines under the sun, you should be fair to yourself and give this wonderful preparation, HADACOL, a trial. And if your disease is caused by a lack of the B vitamins and minerals which HADACOL contains, then don't go on suffering—don't continue to make your life so miserable. Temporary relief for you is not enough. Take HADACOL.

The pains in my head sometimes were unbearable. I suffered tortures and I was miserable. At night particularly I lay awake and could not sleep.

Mr. Watkins said that someone finally persuaded him to try HADACOL and after taking the first bottle he said he could see an improvement in his general condition.

I tried all kinds of medicines but nothing seemed to do me any good. I seemed to be growing worse and worse and was finally advised to take a leave of absence from my work on the police force in an effort to recover my health."

PLANT SWEATT

ANOTHER GREAT PLANT

Construction has now begun on Plant Sweat*, the company's new 58,000 horsepower steam electric generating plant near Meridian. This modern high pressure unit will provide additional power for homes, farms, factories, and businesses throughout Southeast Mississippi over an interconnected high voltage transmission network.

Plant Eaton with 90,000 horsepower of generating capacity is already producing new generation records and has been using natural gas as a fuel since its first unit went into operation early in 1945. Plant Sweat also will be gas fired. Thus one Mississippi product becomes another Mississippi product to aid the further economic development of the area.

These two great tax-paying plants are major steps in the company's expansion program designed to continue to meet all needs for electricity in rapidly growing Southeast Mississippi. They represent the visions of pioneering Mississippians enterprise for the public good and building in concrete and steel and copper the physical accomplishment of those dreams.

*The company's Board of Directors have named the plant after L. P. Sweat who, since the beginning of company operation on January 1, 1925, has been its general manager; who was elected vice-president in 1927 and president in 1944; and who for a quarter century has been a leader in developing Mississippi's economy.

Joseph Ladner of Natchez community built and seeded a waterway on his farm last Tuesday. The waterway is about 40 feet wide and V-shaped. Kentucky 31 fescue and White Dutch Clover planted on the newly-built outlet will not only keep terrace water from scouring but will also provide grazing in the winter and hay in the summer.

Soil Conservation technicians assigned to the Hancock county district helped Ladner locate and design the waterway as part of his complete land-use plans.

Six acres of idle bottom land on O. V. Moran's farm near Lakeshore recently underwent a "face lifting." Moran prepared the land, fertilized it and is ready to seed the land after good rain falls and settles the seedbed. Moran will divide the field into two, three acre blocks. He will plant Kentucky 31 fescue on one block and Pensacola Bahia grass on the other. "White Dutch Clover will be planted with the grass later," Moran added.

FARM BILL ASSURES SUPPORT OF TUNG OIL

Price support for the Tung oil industry was assured with the passage of the 1949 Farm Bill which carries with it a mandatory support price on a basis of from 60 to 90 per cent of parity.

The House had previously, in July, passed the Colmer Bill, H. R. 29, providing for 90 per cent of parity for Tung oil. The Senate then amended the bill to provide for a flexible rate of from 60 to 90 per cent of parity.

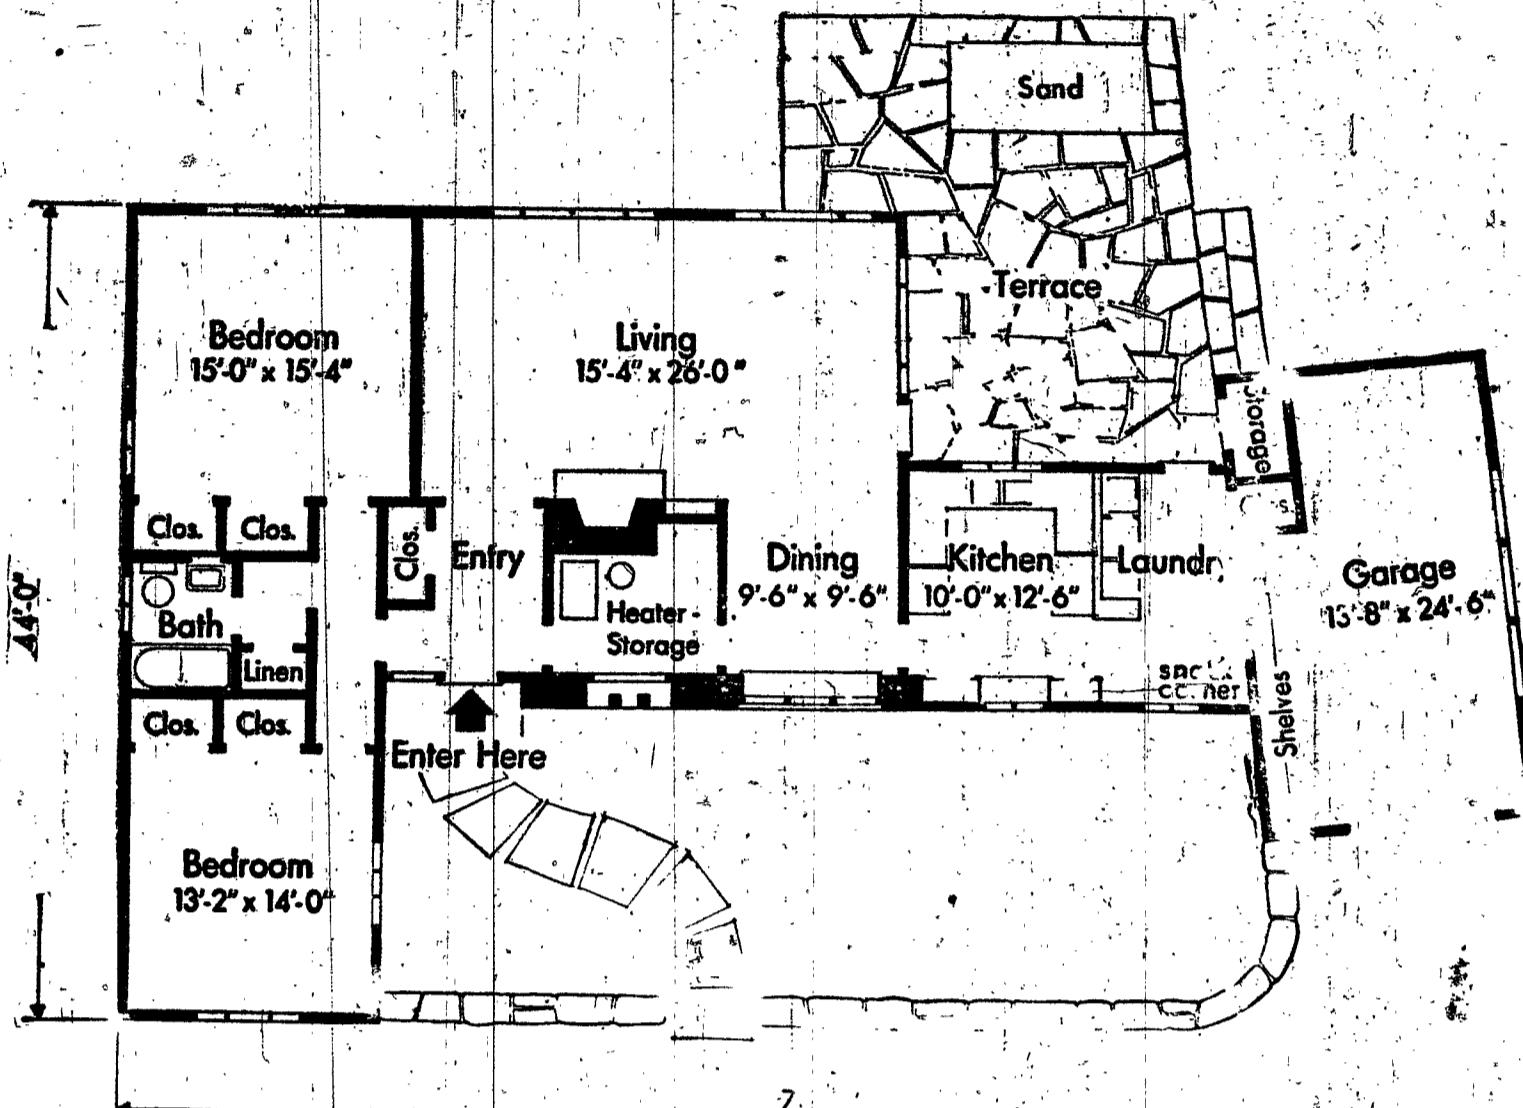

Under the provisions of the new Bill, which the President is expected to sign within the next few days, the Secretary of Agriculture will, for the first time, be required to support this Southern commodity on a basis of from 25 to 30 per cent. This price support measure should be a boon to this industry, according to Washington sources. Along with all other support prices, the flexible price support ranging from 60 to 90 per cent of parity will become effective with the 1950 crop.

Rep. William Colmer was congratulated by his colleagues, who said

Created for Charm and Children

Here's a house that offers the luxury of sweeping contours and the utility of spacious terraces for children's play and adult recreation—all on a lot only 76 feet wide. Fieldstone walls and chimney, harmonizing with gracefully-hewn plywood, give the exterior a permanent tidiness. The rear terrace, with a fireplace pit, is sheltered on three sides and has easy access to kitchen window-buffet. Each large bedroom has two closets and is cross-ventilated. Four picture windows in the living room and dining room will overlook both garden and front terrace. Sketch plans are available by writing Good Housekeeping magazine.

that the Mississippian "deserves credit for the fight he made." Tung oil has from a political standpoint, no national appeal in that it is produced in a narrow belt of the Gulf region.

Tomato Juice Frozen Successfully

By Madge Allred

Scientists still haven't found a liver and veal combination baked in individual loaves and served with a zestful sauce. Many of you will find a way to use leftover liver or veal. The recipe will make 6 servings.

When you try the fresh frozen juice, you will find it has the taste of fresh raw tomatoes. Since most people are used to the flavor of canned juice, it may be well to try the frozen juice in small amounts at first.

To freeze tomato juice, wash well-ripened tomatoes. Remove stems and green spots, and cut the tomatoes in sixths. Simmer the pieces just 5 minutes to soften and start the flow of juice. Press through a sieve.

Add 1 teaspoon of salt to each pint of juice. Cool the juice rapidly. Put in glass jars or other suitable containers and freeze.

Speed in preparing and freezing is important for high-quality frozen juice.

If you are home canning tomato juice, you would simmer the tomato pieces before starting. Then process pint or quart jars 15 minutes in boiling water bath.

PLAN A WINTER VEGETABLE "TREAT"

After Oct. 15 in North and Central Mississippi, plant lettuce, radish, mustard, beets, turnips, onions and spinach in the cold frame. Make rows across the short distance of the bed from 10 to 12 inches wide.

You will have a "treat" in December, January and February.

COUNTY AGENT'S NOTES

Now Is Time To Take Soil Samples Rev. Walsh New Seminary Rector

By Howard F. Simmons

Collect soil samples now for testing to find out how much and what kind of fertilizer to use for crops to be planted next spring such as cotton, corn, lespedeza and sudan.

There are several advantages of sampling now. Weather is generally good, but is often so bad in late winter and spring that it is impossible to get into the fields to collect samples.

Samples collected too late cannot be processed through the laboratory in time for the results to be used.

If most farmers wait until next spring to buy fertilizer, there is still a good chance that some will not get all and of the kind they want. On the other hand, the fertilizer industry states that all fertilizer needed next year can be supplied if farmers will take fertilizer on the market now.

Storage of fertilizer over winter months is for many a problem, as such fertilizer tends to get hard and lumpy. But hard fertilizer of the right kind is preferred to none at all.

Economy of production is a big reason for having soil tested.

For an example of fertilizer being wasted in the field, one farmer this year used for corn 690 pounds of actual potash, or the equivalent of 1380 pounds of 50 per cent muriate of potash per acre. He made a high yield; but the crop could not possibly have used more than 400 pounds of muriate of potash per acre.

The farmer who applied too much potash lost $23 per acre. He could have determined how much potash was required by having the soil tested.

A similar thing could happen in the case of phosphorus.

Dr. Ivan E. Miles, Extension agronomist, states:

"Agricultural prices are not as favorable as they have been. Consequently, we must grow good crops as cheaply as we can if we are going to make a good living on our farms."

The county agent has containers and instructions for soil sampling. This soil testing service is free.

TREE SEEDLINGS

November 15 is the deadline to apply for free tree seedlings available to farmers from state nurseries.

About 20 million seedlings have been grown this year at the nurseries at Winona and Mt. Olive. These will be shipped for planting during December through February.

Each land owner is entitled to 5,000 free seedlings. There is a transportation charge for these of 25 cents per 1,000 seedlings.

Seedlings in excess of the original 5,000 may be bought for three dollars and 35 cents per thousand.

Most seedlings are of loblolly pine. Others are slash and long leaf.

Application forms for seedlings may be obtained from the county agent or area forest ranger.

Have a definite planting location in mind before the seedlings arrive this winter. Otherwise, one may plant at a location which is convenient but not the place for trees.

A good location for reforestation is an abandoned field, or hilly eroded pasture, that cannot be held with grasses for grazing.

NEWS OF OUR COLORED PEOPLE

By Senior Students of St. Rose De Lima High School

On Tuesday, Oct. 25, the Very Reverend Laurence Walsh, S. V. D. arrived at St. Augustine's Seminary to take over his duties as rector. He will also teach religion at the Seminary. Installation ceremonies were held at St. Augustine's on Tuesday.

The entire community enjoyed a free day. At noon the St. Rose de Lima School band entertained the community with six band selections.

Very Reverend Walsh is a native of Monee, Illinois. He studied for the priesthood at St. Mary's Mission House in Techy, Illinois, and was ordained there in 1935. Until 1943 he taught at St. Mary's Mission House in Techy. In that year he was appointed rector of St. Paul's Mission Seminary in Epworth, Iowa. He held that post for six years. The new rector has been in the South since, but only for a visit.

On Sunday, Oct. 23, twenty-first graders of St. Rose de Lima school were received into the Holy Childhood Association. Immediately after the services which took place at 7:30 p. m. the members of the Holy Childhood and the Mission Crusade presented a mission program in the auditorium. It was well attended. The proceeds are to go to the African missions.

On Friday through Sunday, Oct. 28-30, there will be Forty Hours Devotion at St. Augustine's Seminary. Solemn closing will take place Sunday at 5:00 P. M.

Miss Anita Jenkins and Bernard Banks were married at St. Rose de Lima church on Saturday, Oct. 22, at 9:30 a. m. Rev. Conrad Kinder conducted the ceremony. The reception was held from 3 to 5 p. m. at the home of the bride's mother. That same evening the newlyweds left for St. Louis where a grand reception awaited them. The groom is a native of St. Louis, and the bride lived there for a number of years. She graduated from St. Mary's Hospital Training School for nurses. At the time of her marriage she was practicing her profession at the St. Louis City hospital. After their honeymoon trip to Chicago, the couple will settle down in St. Louis. Mr. Banks is a postal clerk. In the near future he will open an electric appliance business.

A party sponsored by the Co-operators was held last Tuesday night at Barbara Curry's residence.

Mrs Aaron Smith and little daughter, Terricena, visited relatives in New Orleans this week.

Producers Of Pulpwood Talk Over Forestry Act

Two Hancock county forestry conservation demonstrations brought 60 pulpwood producers, cutters and haulers together for a discussion of the Forest Harvesting Act. The meetings were called by Sam Whitfield of Bay St. Louis, pulpwood dealer shipping to International Paper Company's Moss Point mill.

Both meetings took place in wooded tracts near Kiln and Logtown, where the law was fully discussed and explained by Area Ranger, T. V. Marlar, and International's Conservation Forester, M. O. Stark. The cutters then picked out trees to meet the law's requirement as seed trees. Both Marlar and Stark called on the group for its cooperation in observing the Harvesting Act as well as the fire prevention and control laws.

Tom Dantley, also of International, explained that most of the pulpwood shipped from Logtown came largely from thinnings of selective cutting. It was pointed out that one tract furnishes most of the wood being shipped from this point.

Others present and participating in the meetings were Forrest Summers of Logtown, and Duncan McDonald, of International.

How About Being A Good Sport?

Big pow-wow the other night at the Fire House between farmers and the town fellows who go fishing and hunting on their land. Sam Roberts says: "We don't mind anyone going on our property. It's the carelessness, gates left open, fences broken, fires started, even livestock getting hurt."

Then Slim Dalton spoke up. "Some of us may have been a bit careless, but from now on we'll get permission first. Besides that, we're offering a $50 reward for information about any destruction to a farmer's property!"

Veterans Insurance Situation Explained

"I got number. You got a number. Both our numbers are the same. What goes on?"

According to Bob McKay, State Veterans Affairs Commissioner, the above conversation frequently occurs when two World War II veterans meet who have filed for their refund of National Service Life Insurance.

"It's simple," says the Veterans Administration. Here is the way it goes:

1. The application number, which is stamped by V-A on both the application form and the acknowledgement card returned to the applicant, is in two parts.

2. The number appearing to the right consists of two digits preceded by the letter "A." This number remains the same for each group of 1,000,000 cards. The designation "A05", therefore, indicates that the application is among the fifth million cards processed.

3. The number to the left, composed of four digits, is a batch number, identifying each batch of 100 cards within the one million group. Thus, the number "0247 A05" indicates that the application is in the 247th batch of the fifth million cards processed.

4. All the applications in each batch of 100 cards bear identical numbers.
